1. Introduction

1.1 The South Central Ambulance Service NHS Foundation Trust recognises its duty to comply with the Health and Safety at Work Act (HSWA) 1974 and all subordinate regulations such as the First Aid at Work Regulations 1981 (Amended 2013); and in particular the duty to provide a safe workplace for staff to provide healthcare. Therefore, the Trust is committed to ensuring, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health, safety and welfare of all of its employees and this includes having arrangements in place to provide first aid to injured staff, work experience students and any contractors, visitors and members of the public (other than designated patients) who either visit Trust premises and require first aid or who are affected by the activities of the Trust and require first aid. Designated patients will be provided with health care treatment as a matter of course.

1.2 In accordance with the Management of Health, Safety and Welfare Regulations 1992 (Amended 1999) the Trust will also carry out suitable and sufficient risk assessments on the provision of first aid within the Trust.

2. Scope

2.1 This policy applies to all who work for or carry out work on behalf of the Trust, including volunteers, work experience students and contractors. Moreover, the provision of first aid is not limited to providing it these personnel, it can also be provided to any contractors, visitors and members of the public (other than designated patients) who either visit Trust premises and require first aid or who are affected by the activities of the Trust and require first aid. Designated patients will be provided with health care treatment as a matter of course.

3. Equality Statement

3.1 The Trust is committed to promoting positive measures that eliminate all forms of unlawful or unfair discrimination on the grounds of age, marriage and civil partnership, disability, race, gender, religion/belief, sexual orientation, gender reassignment and pregnancy/maternity or any other basis not justified by law or relevant to the requirements of the post. The Trust will therefore take every possible step to ensure that this procedure is applied fairly to all employees regardless of the afore mentioned protected characteristics, whether full or part time or employed under a permanent or a fixed term contract or any other irrelevant factor.

3.2 By committing to a policy encouraging equality of opportunity and diversity, the Trust values differences between members of the community and within its existing workforce, and actively seeks to benefit from their differing skills, knowledge, and experiences in order to provide an exemplary healthcare service. The Trust is committed to promoting equality and diversity best practice both within the workforce and in any other area where it has influence.

3.3 Where there are barriers to understanding; for example, an employee has difficulty in reading or writing, or where English is not their first language, additional support will be put in place wherever necessary to ensure that the process to be followed is understood and that the employee is not disadvantaged at any stage in the procedure. Further information on the support available can be sought from the HR Department.

5.7 Head of Risk and Security and the Health, Safety and Security Officer

5.7.1 The Head of Risk and Security and/or the Health, Safety and Security Officer will either carry out risk assessments or assist managers with the carrying out of risk assessments on the provision of first aid. This includes assisting the Manager of the South Central Fleet Services Ltd.

6. Definitions

6.1 'First aid' is defined as:

“The provision of treatment for the preservation of life and minimising the consequences of injury and illness until medical help is obtained, and the treatment of minor injuries which would otherwise receive no treatment or which does not require professional medical treatment.”

7. Arrangements for carrying out suitable and sufficient first aid risk assessments

7.1 The Head of Risk and Security and/or the Health, Safety and Security Officer will either carry out, or assist Managers with the carrying out of suitable and sufficient risk assessments to identify the requirements of first aid in each Trust premises.

7.2 When carrying out these suitable and sufficient first aid risk assessments, the following will be considered:

- The nature of the work and the workplace hazards and risk
- The nature of the workforce and the distribution of the workforce
- The size of the organisation
- The organisation's history of accidents/incidents
- The needs of travelling, remote and lone workers
- Work patterns
- The remoteness of the site from emergency medical services
- Employees working on shared or multi-occupied sites
- Annual leave and other absences of first aiders and appointed persons
- First aid provision for non-employees.

8. Arrangements for the provision of first aid

8.1 Provision of first aid kits/containers

8.1.1 A designated first aid kit/container will be provided at each of the Trust's premises and at each of the South Central Fleet Services premises. Managers and Safety Representatives will be responsible for undertaking regular checks to ensure that first aid boxes on stations and departments are fully stocked and for replenishing items as required.

8.1.2 A first aid kit/container will be held on each of the Patient Transport Service vehicles. However, Trust Ambulances, Rapid response vehicles and the vehicles of Community First Responder will not be issued with a designated first aid kit because the said vehicles all carry sufficient first aid materials over and above what would be in a first aid kit.

8.2 Content of first aid kits/containers

8.2.1 There is no mandatory list of items to be included in a first aid kit/container or a first aid for employees who travel as part of their employment. However, what should be included should be identified and influenced by the first aid needs risk assessment.

8.2.2 A first aid kit/container may contain the following (suggested contents): • A leaflet containing general guidance on first aid (for example, HSE's Basic advice on first aid at work)

- Individually wrapped sterile plasters (assorted sizes – hypoallergenic plasters can be provided if necessary), appropriate to the type of work
- Sterile eye pads
- Individually wrapped triangular bandages, preferably sterile
- Large sterile individually wrapped un-medicated wound dressings

- Individual wrapped triangular bandages, preferably sterile
- Large sterile un-medicated dressing
- Individually wrapped ,moist cleansing wipes • Disposable gloves

8.3 Provision of first aiders or appointed persons

8.3.1 The Trust will carry out a risk assessment on each of its premises to identify whether or not it has suitable first aid provision, including whether or not a designated first aider or an appointed person is required. However, due to the nature of the Trust's business, most Trust premises will have access to a qualified ambulance person or a trained first aider. Where this is not the case, a member of staff within the premises or department will be provided with training to become either a first aider or an appointed person depending on the findings of the risk assessment.

8.3.2 The Trust is an approved provider of First Aid at Work training. This training will be made available to any member of staff who wishes to undertake this training subject to the approval of their manager and the first aid requirements in their area.

8.3.3 In the event of an injury or illness occurring within any department where a first aider or an appointed person is not present, a message should be put out requesting “first aid assistance”. The nearest first aider or qualified ambulance staff will respond to the incident. All responses by qualified ambulance staff should be logged as a ‘running call’ and the appropriate paperwork completed. In addition to this the matter should be reported on the Trust’s Incident reporting system, Datix.

8.4 First Aiders in Northern House and Southern House

8.4.1 In Northern House and Southern House there will be a number of trained first aiders. These will be in addition to those staff in the Clinical Coordination Centre (CCC) who are trained to provide first aid. The name and location of these first aiders will be displayed on notices in each respective building.

8.5 Provision of first aid

8.5.1 The First Aid at Work Regulations places a duty on the Trust to make first aid provision for its employees, however, the Trust will make treatment available to anyone, in addition to Trust staff, who becomes ill or injured such as work experience students, visitors, contractors and members of the public etc., who are either on a Trust premises or within the vicinity of a Trust premises or vehicle and/or who request assistance from Trust personnel, and/or who are adversely affected by the activities of Trust personnel and require first aid treatment. Designated patients will be provided with health care treatment as a matter of course.

8.6 Recording first aid incidents

8.6.1 Whenever any of the designated first aiders provide first aid on one of the Trust premises or whilst carrying out first aid to anyone other than a patient they should record this by using the Trust’s Incident reporting system, Datix. Similarly, if any ambulance staff provide first aid to anyone other than a designated patient this too should be reported on Datix.

8.7 Health Professions who are exempt from holding a first aid qualification

8.7.1 Provided that they can demonstrate current knowledge and skills in first aid, the training and experience of the following qualify them to administer first aid in the workplace without the need to hold a First Aid at Work (FAW) or Emergency First Aid at Work (EFAW) or equivalent qualification:

- Doctors registered with the General Medical Council
- Nurses registered with the Nursing Midwifery Council
- Paramedics registered with the Health Care Professionals Council
- In addition to these and because of their training, Emergency Care Assistants (ECAs), Technicians and AAPs can also provide first aid where required.

8.7.2 However, if an employee has a current first aid qualification other than FAW/EFAW, it may be considered suitable in relation to the role of workplace first aider.

 - Administer first aid to a casualty with:
 - Injuries to bones, muscles and joints, including suspected spinal injuries
 - Chest injuries
 - Eye injuries
 - Sudden poisoning
 - Anaphylactic shock.
- 9.3 The initial First Aid at Work (FAW) training course is three days in duration and the refresher course is two days in duration. If the refresher training is completed after the initial training has expired (for longer than a month) then it is recommended that the refresher training should be three days in duration. This also applies to the Emergency First Aid at Work (EFAW) course.
- 9.4 Although not mandatory, the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) strongly recommend that first aiders undertake annual refresher training during any three year FAW/EFAW certification period. This is to help first aiders maintain their basic skills and keep abreast of any changes to first aid procedures.
- 9.5 All first aid training is valid for three years from the date of completion. The Trust will make arrangements to provide first aid training before the certificates expire.
